SUMMER EXHIBITION

The Evolution Of Sound

Do you know how people experienced music before CD's and Streaming services?

The Evolution of Sound tracks the way that audiences have listened to musical performances from the 18th century to today.

Explore objects from opera to the electronic radio and see how one led to the other. Come and learn about the development of the record player and the many different types of early sound recording showcased within the Yolo County Historical Collection.

COLLECTION SPOTLIGHT

Le Lever Du Jour
Auguste Moreau (1834-1917)
YO1-420-03

Auguste Moreau was a french sculptor who focused on Neoclassical imagery. Moreau captured newfound movement in his subjects which makes them seem to be performing for the viewer. Instead of the rigid contrapposto of classical art, these figures are caught in fluid action--like snapshots of time

Le Lever Du Jour roughly translates to the "Rising of the Day". Here Helios, the Greek Sun God who drags the sun across the sky each day according to Greek Myth, is caught the moment he thrusts the the light skyward. Helios' majestic and young face, and toned body reflect the idealism of classical art. The Gibson House is sprinkled with Neoclassical elements in homage to Mary Gibson who cherished Neoclassical Style.
